SEEKING SCALPS.

San Diego's Grand Jury in Warpaint.

The Supervisors Ordered to Vacate Their Offices.

The Mayor Charged with Being Habitually Drunk.

The Sheriff and Coroner Accused of Peculation—Newspapers Censured for Publishing Garbled Reports.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The Grand Jury, which has been in session for the past six weeks, made its final report tonight. Among other things the report says: "The Grand Jury has heretofore referred to the recklessness and wasteful manner in which the Board of Supervisors has spent over a hundred thousand dollars on country roads, and the work has apparently been done more for the interest of the contractors than for the good of the county. We have determined, for the best interests of the county, to remove the members of the Board of Supervisors in a summary manner. The District Attorney has prepared accusations against each member of the board, praying for their removal from office and asking $500 damages in each case."

The report charges Sheriff McDowell with misappropriating $7000.

The report charges that the Sheriff collected 50 cents per day for the board of each prisoner, and only paid 25 cents to the Contractor for meals. It instructed the District Attorney to commence proceedings against him to recover the money.

Coroner W. H. Eadonis is charged with collecting office rent from the county when he had no office, and the Chief of Police of this city is censured in the following language: "This Grand Jury finds that there has been a large number of cases settled by the Chief of Police and bail forfeited where no account has been rendered, and has had before it a large amount of testimony taken to show that Chief of Police Joseph Coyne and his deputy, Larry Barton, have been systematically collecting money from Chinese gamblers for the purpose of allowing them to carry on their unlawful games."

The report then says: "The Grand Jury finds that the Mayor of the city of San Diego, Douglass Gunn, has been in an intoxicated condition for several weeks, unable to attend to his duties, and that his condition is a disgrace to the people of this city, and it thinks that, in justice to the people, he should resign his office."

The report also charges Superintendent of County Hospital L. H. Estes with being on the streets in a state of intoxication. The same charges are made against his assistant, one Johnson, and the report calls upon them to resign their offices. The Grand Jury finds that Tax Collector W. S. Varnum, recently removed, is behind to the county $8000, and it wants suit brought to recover from his bondsmen.

The newspapers are censured for publishing garbled and unfair reports of criminal trials before the courts, with the intention of influencing verdicts.

THE LATE STORM.

Estimates of the Losses Caused to Vineyardists.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] Clarence J. Wetmore of the Viticultural Commission places the wine loss on account of the recent storm at 1,950,000 gallons. The loss is distributed as follows: Napa and Sonoma, 1,250,000; Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Monterey, 500,000; Alameda, 150,000; San Joaquin and other counties, 50,000; total, 1,950,000. In Alameda county and throughout the San Joaquin Valley and Southern California grapes are picked about 10 days before they are in other districts, so that this accounts for the comparatively small loss in those districts.

Mr. Wetmore said today: "There was a stringency in the market before the storm occurred, for we have a market for 14,000,000 gallons, and we looked for 12,000,000 gallons of wine and 1,000,000 of brandy. Now we have only 10,000,000 gallons of wine, brandy remaining about the same. Of this we send away to the East and foreign ports 8,000,000 gallons, leaving only 2,000,000 gallons to meet the local demand, which is, perhaps, 6,000,000 gallons. This, of course, means an advance in prices."

All the raisin districts have suffered extremely from the storm, and while no definite reports have been received, the loss is estimated, from such figures as have come to hand from various dealers in the raisin trade, at 55 per cent. of the entire crop. Of the Fresno product, put at 600,000 boxes, 350,000 will be about the figure.

The disastrous effects in Woodland, Davisville, El Cajon, Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange, Los Angeles and other districts have not yet been summarized, but they are known to have been widespread, owing to lateness of the time at which grapes are picked.

Table grapes have been the source of the greatest loss. The immediate effect on the market, however, has been the booming of prices to twice what they were previously, so that growers do not anticipate losing more than 25 per cent. of their usual income from this source.

IN THE SHERIFF'S GRIP.

Santa Ana's "Live Daily" Again in Financial Trouble.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 1.—[Special.] Lester Osborne and George Broadbere, two reporters from the Express of Los Angeles, who came to Santa Ana a few weeks ago to run a "live daily newspaper," and down the Blade, have made a signal failure. They started the Santa Ana Free Press, an afternoon daily, with a great flourish of trumpets and loud boasting. The material was attached some ten days ago. Since that time Sheriff Harris has kept the paper alive by standing good to the printers for their pay. Other attachments followed, and all outstanding bills were garnished. A hearing was had before Justice of the Peace McKel today, and judgment was confessed in all the suits. The paper appeared this afternoon, but a report is current this evening that today's issue is its last.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 1.—The Free Press, an evening paper, after an existence of three months, ceased publication this evening, and went into the hands of the Sheriff to satisfy printers' bills.

A BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

The Ball in Honor of Canada's Governor-General.

VICTORIA (B. C.), Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The naval ball at the Esquimalt dockyard tonight in honor of the Governor-General of Canada is a grand affair. The decorations are of a most novel and costly character. The grand entrance to the court is in the form of a fairy grotto. The ballroom is decorated with a multitude of flags and trophies, formed of small arms from the ships, flowers in profusion and electric lights. The Governor-General and Lady Stanley and over 300 guests, including army officers of Washington Territory, are in attendance.

TWO SUICIDES.

Thomas McKnight Takes His Own Life at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] Thomas McKnight, who until today has been the regular freight agent here of the Northern Pacific Railroad, committed suicide this afternoon at the Casino, in the Golden Gate Park, by shooting himself in the left breast. He was found soon after, and was removed to the receiving hospital, where the bullet was extracted. McKnight suffered terribly, but did not recover consciousness so as to speak connectedly, and died after lingering a few hours.

Several months ago his wife died, and since then he seems to have grown daily more discouraged. This at last led to difficulties with his employers, and this morning he was relieved from his duties and another man put in his place. It was manifestly this that led to his determination to commit suicide. McKnight was widely known over the coast, and had many friends.

A GIRL'S SUICIDE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Ida H. Schnaur, a 17-year-old girl, committed suicide today at the People's dairy, on the San Bruno road, by taking strychnine. The girl left a letter to her mother, in which she charged her father, who is said to be the captain of the ship Harvester, with bodily abuse. She also claimed to be possess

Notice to Taxpayers.

Notice is hereby given the taxpayers of Los Angeles county that State and county taxes for the fiscal year of 1889-90 will be tion the appointment of any man selected by the convention.

Gen. Brierly moved that a committee of one from each county of the Sixth Congressional District and three from Los Angeles county be appointed or selected as an honorary committee, and that the convention select an executive committee from that committee. Carried.

The following gentlemen were chosen: D. L. Walbur of Riverside, H. K. Snow of Orange, Frank Kimball of San Diego; Senator McComas, Capt. F. E. Gray and Gen. John R. Brierly, Los Angeles county. J. C. Sheppard of Ventura county and S. M. W. Easeley of the same county were placed in nomination and Mr. Easley, Santa Barbara; Elwood Cooper, Santa Barbara.

It was then moved and carried that the committee be empowered to fill vacancies from the following counties: Kern, Tulare, Fresno, Inyo, San Louis Obispo, San Benito and Monterey. Mr. Wilbur of San Bernardino requested that Mr. Miller of Riverside be substituted on the committee in his place, and it was so ordered. After considerable argument it was decided, on motion of Gen. Brierly, that the Executive Committee come together as soon as possible, complete its organization, prepare a premium list, suggest the name of some person to act as assistant to Mr. Hancock and report to the convention in 30 days. The convention then adjourned.

AN INTERESTING DAY.

A Good Programme at the Park Yesterday.

The events on yesterday's card at the Agricultural Park track were not so good as were given upon the previous days, though quite as large a crowd was out to see them. The sport was begun with a 2:50-class trot, in which there were five starters, C. A. Durfee's b.h. Raymond, John F. Dodson's b.m. Duchess, J. B. Denman's b.g. Victor, J. D. Dunn's s.m. Orphan Girl and L. J. Felton's br.s. Othello. Before the first heat Duchess sold favorite in the pools at $20, Raymond bringing $5 and the field $3. Duchess made a break at the send-off, which killed her chances. Raymond took the lead at the turn and was never headed, taking the heat by three lengths, Othello getting second, Victor third, Orphan Girl fourth and Duchess fifth. Time, 2:27½.

There was a big chop in the pools then, Raymond jumping to favorite's place and selling at $30 against $18 for the entire field. When they got the word after several scores, Raymond took the lead and going around the turn was four lengths in front, with Duchess in second place. Duchess rapidly closed the gap on the backstretch, and at the head of the second turn was on even terms with him, but she broke and came almost to a standstill, all the four horses passing her. Raymond had the race already won, and he came down home easy. Duchess came like the wind after she settled down, and finished in second place, three lengths behind Raymond, Victor getting third, Orphan Girl fourth and Othello fifth. Time, 2:30.

Raymond sold after the heat at $30 against the field at $8. He got away in the lead with Othello at his wheel. Duchess broke on the turn and dropped back last. Othello stayed with Raymond for the entire distance. Duchess began to crawl up as soon as she settled down, and when Richmond entered the straight she was within three lengths of him, and he was alternately running and trotting. Duchess crawled up to him slowly, and at one time it seemed as if she would win, but she went off her feet and both she and Raymond galloped under the wire. Raymond got the heat and race, Duchess second, Othello third, Victor fourth, Orphan Girl fifth. Time, 2:31.

A seven-eighths of a mile dash for 3-year-olds followed. It had but two starters, P. C. Donalich's ch.g. Naicho B., 115, and Harry Rose's b.h. Dan Murphy, 118. In the pools Murphy was favorite at $50, Naicho B. bringing $15. The judges got an idea that things were not exactly regular, and Cook, who was down to ride Naicho B., was taken down, and West was put up in his stead. Naicho B. was not in it, going stiff as a stick. Murphy had the best of the go by a length, and Naicho B. never caught him. Naicho began to quit on the second turn, and though West worked hard on him, he could do nothing. Murphy came home and won in a canter by three lengths. Time, 1:30½.

The racing event of the day was a mile and a quarter dash for all ages. There were two starters, P. C. Donalich's g.g. John Treat, 115, and Ben Hill's ch.g. Tycoon, 115. The talent named John Treat to win, and backed him heavily at odds of three to one, and got badly left. The send-off was a good one. Treat came down the straight with Tycoon at his neck. The position was held to the middle of the backstretch, and then Tycoon began to move up. He collared Tycoon at the half-mile post, and going around the second turn passed him. John Treat got the whip at the head of the straight, but he was two lengths behind and tired. Tycoon came on home, running easy, and finished strong two lengths in the lead. Time, 2:09½. The talent dumped a pile of money on the gray horse.

Young and Proctor, two of the polo players, ran their ponies a dash of half a mile. Young won by half a length. Time, 1:01.

The ladies' tournament attracted quite an amount of attention and the four contestants received any amount of applause at their daring feats. Better riding is seldom seen. The first prize, a handsome saddle and bridle, was awarded to Miss Irene Savage of Whittier; the second prize, a tailor-made riding habit, was won by Mrs. McElfresh of Los Angeles; the third prize, $30, was awarded to Mrs. Chadwick of Los Angeles, and the fourth, $10, to Miss Colby of Los Angeles.

EAST SIDE NEWS.

Preparing for the Blowout Today—News Notes.

The Decorating Committee has its work completed on Downey avenue, from the bridge to the east end of the cable road.

The arches are all very fine, and could be seen a long distance were it not for the flying rags that obstruct the view.

The speakers' stand will be at the east end of the cable road, near Downey avenue, instead of Griffin avenue.

Mr. Angevine and family have returned to the city after a six months' stay in the country.

All contractors and builders who wish their names to appear in the East Side Directory of the special issue will please hand their card to the East Side reporter today.

Frank Keefer narrowly escaped a serious injury last evening, by being thrown from his wagon on Downey avenue. He escaped with a few bruises, but no bones were broken. The wagon was somewhat demoralized.

WYMAN CONVICTED.

THE CRANK LETTER-WRITER WILL GO TO JAIL.

Brooks Attempts to Work the Insane Dodge, but Fails—Wyman's True Name Comes Out—He Has Heart Trouble—Fun at the Expense of a Medico.

W. W. Wyman, or as he now acknowledges A. S. Burroughs, futilely attempted to play the insanity dodge yesterday in the United States Court, where he was on trial for sending a vilely obscene letter through the mails to a handsome and refined young lady of this city, Miss Carrie Arnold. The prosecution closed its case Thursday afternoon, and yesterday morning the first thing J. Marion Brooks did was to ask for the appointment of three physicians to examine the defendant as to his sanity or insanity. He stated that he had subpœnaed Drs. Boyd, Johnson and Frecius, and they were allowed to go into an adjoining room with the defendant. They were absent nearly an hour, when Judge Ross took a recess until 1 o'clock.

At that hour Dr. W. M. Boyd was put on the stand, and stated that upon examination of the defendant he had found him to be suffering from organic heart trouble not of recent origin. He said that the heart supplies the brain with blood, and the brain may be affected; but he never saw a case where heart trouble caused insanity. A hypothetical question was put to the witness to the effect that if a man troubled with heart disease, who had been in an insane asylum in 1882, and afterward wandered about the country, should write such a letter as the one in question, would he not be insane?

This question was objected to by District Attorney Hutton, and the objection was sustained, much to the disgust of Mr. Brooks.

The witness then said that he does not profess to be an expert on insanity, having only sat upon one insane case, and does not think he is competent to testify. He was thereupon excused.

Dr. J. H. Johnson testified that he has been practicing medicine for eight years, but only studied insanity in connection with his study of medicine, and has not had much experience in that line. He could, however, tell the difference between mania and melancholia. The defendant he found to have heart trouble, and his physical condition feeble.

The same hypothetical question was put to the witness as to the preceding witness, and ruled out. Mr. Brooks then tried another, to the effect that if the defendant wrote the letter in question, could he be sane? This met with the same fate, and the witness was withdrawn.

The defendant was then called, and gave his name as A. S. Burroughs (he formerly gave it as Wyman). He said that he was born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is 34 years of age. He was committed to the Napa asylum, but was hazy as to the date, believing it to be March 3, 1882, as stated.

This was all the defendant was called upon to answer, and he was turned over for cross-examination. Upon being asked whether he knows Officer Jennings, Mr. Brooks raised a vigorous objection. The defendant said he saw him when he was arrested. A motion to strike this answer out was denied.

The defendant was then asked if he did not tell Officer Jennings that A. S. Burroughs wrote the letter and not him.

He replied that he may have done so after the arrest.

The defendant was then withdrawn, and Mr. Brooks read the commitment, which gives the defendant's name as Wyman, and filed it in evidence.

The examination of the next witness, Dr. Frecius, was very breezy. He is the man who was confined in the County Jail at the same time Wyman (or Burroughs) was there, and is an erratic physician, who is said to be addicted to the use of cocaine. He testified that he is a German, a graduate of Berlin University, and has studied in Bellevue Hospital and the College of Medicine, New York. He said he has made the study of medicine a specialty; that if the circulation is disturbed the brain suffers. Inactive circulation causes a passive congestion of the brain and affects the mind by being sluggish, and will produce melancholia.

The Doctor was not allowed to answer the hypothetical question, and went on to state that he frequently noticed the defendant excited at one moment and depressed the next. He related what the defendant told him about his history, which was to the effect that nine or ten years ago he became ill from pulmonary trouble, came to San Francisco and had wandered about ever since, having frequent hallucinations. That on one occasion he took two ounces of prussic acid, and various other stories.

The witness was brought up short by the Court who asked if a man who can make such a detailed statement of his movements is not in his right mind.

The Doctor caused the Court to look at him with suspicion by saying that the defendant might be insane; that all persons are more or less insane. If the defendant wrote the letter he must have been moved by some uncontrollable impulse.

On cross-examination the wild-looking witness was asked to define an impulse, and he went into a rambling statement, using very large words very much mixed. He was then asked if a man with such an impulse would be moved by the same impulse to keep an appointment with a young lady the next night made under the first impulse. He answered yes, and by this time the Court took him in hand. He directed inquiries to the witness which drew from him the fact, despite the objections of Mr. Brooks, that he was in the County Jail with Burroughs; that he was confined there for disturbing the peace while crazy from the effects of cocaine.

The witness went into a long description of cocaine and its uses, but was finally suppressed and withdrawn.

Dr. W. C. Harrison testified that heart trouble has nothing to do with insanity.

Jailer P. M. Darcy, Deputy C. M. Hunter and Deputy J. F. Clark all testified that the defendant has been acting queerly at the jail, but quietly and in a gentlemanly manner.

The defendant was again called, and testified that he was educated at Cornell University, was a real-estate agent at Shasta before going to San Francisco; married a Miss Tiffing of Redding and has two children. Also that his wife did not know he had been to Napa until he was arrested. He did not leave Oakland on account of a threatened prosecution, but on account of a hallucination.

The prosecution then introduced Emil Harris, Officers Jennings and Biles and ex-Chief Burns in rebuttal of Mrs. Benson swearing that she never made any such statement as she swore she did about the poetry on the wall.

The case was then argued, and went to the jury at 5 o'clock. They were out 35 minutes and returned with a verdict of guilty. The Court fixed Tuesday for the sentence. Mr. Brooks gave notice of a motion for a new trial.

EASTWARD-BOUND.

Rev. M. M. Bovard Going on Church Business.

Dr. M. M. Bovard, president of the University of Southern California, will start East early this week with the expectation of attending the session of the Mission Society at Kansas City and of the Church Extension Society in St. Louis, being a member of both conference committees.

Mr. Bovard may extend his trip further east, to meet Alvin Clark and have a talk about the telescope lens for the projected Spence Observatory. The 40-inch disc or crown-glass, which has been on exhibition in the Paris Exposition, is now on its way to this country, and Mr. Bovard hopes to make arrangements with Mr. Clark to have him grind it in this country. The operation of grinding the crown and flint glasses for the big telescope will require a year and a half each.

THERE is insanity in the air.

"PUNGENT P——" But speak no ill of the dead!

THE old Insane Commission was to have met in Los Angeles today. Will it meet, and if so, will it gracefully yield to the newly-appointed members, or otherwise, and if so, how much otherwise? Nous verrons!—likewise quien sabe?

SHOULD the new commission locate the Insane Asylum in some other county, after all, what a howl would go up from the San Bernardino-county papers over their wasted ink and eloquence! Those able editors must be well nigh exhausted—"clean done out."

THE impression conveyed in certain quarters that Dr. Sinsabaugh and George W. Knox, Esq., are not members of the Sub-committee on the Utilization of Sewage is a mistake. These gentlemen were formally added to that sub-committee upon the motion of John P. Culver, Esq., its chairman.

A CORRESPONDENT desires us to inform the public of Los Angeles that she has arrived from "furrin' parts" with a choice and varied assortment of oriental and medieval curios, including medieval Papal bulls. We are doubtful as to the market which our correspondent will find here for this variety of stock. The local demand is chiefly for Durhams and Holsteins.

FROM the free manner in which the San Diego papers are in the habit of criticising Los Angeles, we have always been of the opinion that the moral standing of our southern neighbor must be exceptionally high. This may be so as regards the citizens at large, but there are evidently a few screws loose in the make-up of the officials down there, to judge from the report of the San Diego Grand Jury, which charges most of the county officers, from the Mayor down, with being habitually drunk, disorderly and corrupt. It even goes so far as to denounce the San Diego press. What is the matter down there? Is this an outbreak of a new variety of "back country"?

AT the session of the Citizens' Sewer Commission yesterday, the request of the Council, that the commission report to it on Monday, was read.

A discussion ensued on the subject, in the course of which it was shown that two important sub-committees have yet to report, and that it would be impossible for the commission to make a full and detailed report on Monday. A motion was finally put and carried to inform the Council that the commission is taking under consideration the matters before it, and is making progress, but that it will not be able to make a full report for two weeks to come. We have little doubt that the Council will accede to this very reasonable request. The subject which the commission has had before it is not one which can be properly handled in a couple of weeks. To bring the work to a hasty conclusion now, for the sake of a few days' time, would be a case of "more haste and worse speed." Upon the presumption that the Council desires nothing short of the best results, we do not see how it can refuse to grant the commission the desired extension of time.

A NEW COMMISSION—ITS DUTIES.

It is announced that the Governor has appointed a new Board of Commissioners to select a site for the Insane Asylum of Southern California as follows: M. H. L. Drew of San Bernardino, M. S. Severance of Los Angeles, Charles L. Burgess of San Diego, L. C. McKeeby of Ventura, and W. A. Hayne of Santa Barbara. So far as we are aware, there is nothing to object to in the personnel of this board. As will be noticed, the Los Angeles member of the old board is retained.

The scope of the duties and operations of the Insane Asylum Commission legally embraces five counties. By some peculiar method of reasoning, which we have never understood, the commission which has just been retired practically confined its search for a site to the one county of San Bernardino, though there was a pretense of looking at a Ventura site offered. We repeat what we have heretofore said, that we are making no campaign for Los Angeles county in this matter. As a fact, we really know of very few people in this county who want it, or who take any interest in the location of the institution, apart from that which is felt by all humane people in the welfare of those who are unable to care for themselves. At the same time, now that a new commission has been appointed, it should be distinctly understood that in the selection of sites no county is to be ignored. San Diego, Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara are to stand upon precisely the same footing as San Bernardino, which for some unexplained reason has hitherto had the "pull."

The members of the new commission cannot fail to recognize the fact that unless they are willing to admit that they are mere puppets in Mr. Waterman's hands, they must select a site and stand by their selection. The Governor's duties in the premises are confined to an objection to the price of the site, should that price be excessive. Manifestly, in exercising this right, he must use discretion. The intent of the law evidently is that he shall see that an exorbitant price is not paid by the State, as gauged by the general present values of land in the locality.

The same question faces this commission as that which confronted its predecessor: Is the commission the commission, or is the Governor the commission? It is simply monstrous for Mr. Waterman to take the position that because the commissioners are his appointees under the act, they are therefore merely his creatures to do his will. Such is not by any means the case. They are supposed to be men of judgment, fairness and integrity. They should select a suitable site, and not permit themselves to be bowled down by the Governor's veto, unless that veto is founded on the legal ground of excessive price. Unless they take this stand, what are they there for? Why not let Mr. Waterman choose as well as confirm? Let us hope that the newly-appointed commission will bring this protracted agony to a speedy termination in an honorable and satisfactory manner.

Latest reports are that the old commission is oblivious of Mr. Waterman and will go ahead.

A HANDSOME VOLUME.

The marvelous growth of Southern California during the past few years has given birth to many works descriptive of this section. It is refreshing, amidst the vast amount of shallow literature that has been published on this subject, to come across a really meritorious work, which is deserving of permanent preservation.

The work touches, in an interesting manner, upon the physical features of the county, the aborigines, early voyages and Spanish occupation, the missions, secularization of the missions, early history of the city, the Mexican war, county history, State division, noteworthy events, pioneers, railroads, the press, bench and bar, the medical profession, description of the city of Pasadena and other county cities and towns, with notes on Spanish land grants, the boom and kindred topics. The portion devoted to the early history of the city and county is especially full and interesting.

This work would be a valuable addition to the library of every citizen.

EL ULTIMO SUSPIRO DEL MORO.

At last, as we feared, our estimable colleague, El Correo de San Bernardino, turns loose upon the Insane Commissioners—as was. In yesterday's issue we grieve to find such language applied to these gentlemen as "bold, barefaced, reckless;" "We of San Bernardino can be no longer surprised by anything the commissioners may do. It is impossible for them to surprise us;" "pitiful intrigue, selfish scheming, secret plotting and cursed procrastination," and "cavorting around the country." Alas, alas! How sad it is to see such intemperate language applied to an honorable body, by a journal of standing! Why could not the Courier wait a few weeks, or months, or years longer, before coming to so hasty a conclusion in regard to the character of these gentlemen? Was it because longer delay was rendered impossible by the report that they had been removed on the previous day? Why did the valiant warrior of El Correo leap de novo with such tiger-like ferocity onto the prostrate and trembling frames of a commission functus officio, when it had been so mealy-mouthed about a commission de facto and a Governor de jure? Quousque tandem abutere, Catalina Island, patientia nostra? . . . Hey?

Sxdrastovichie ahora?

Aloha!

IN the course of his interview yesterday, Mr. Hellman made some observations on sewage, which are of especial interest at the present moment. In an interview published in the Express, Mr. Hellman expressed himself more in detail on this subject, as follows.

All the systems are leading toward sewer farms. It is only in large cities, and where land is scarce, that the sewer is run into the rivers. In cities where available places can be obtained, the sewage is run onto large tracts of land. The solid matter is saved for cultivating purposes, and the liquid is absorbed in the ground or run off into some stream. These sewer farms are of great value to a city. The solid matter is sold at a good price. In Germany they are not compelled to save the waste water from the sewage, as the rains are never frequent, but it is the fertilizer that is most needed. Los Angeles should by all means run its sewage on the dry lands. Three thousand acres of land would absorb all the sewage the city can furnish for a long time to come. A sewer farm would be worth millions of dollars to this city, the same as it is worth to cities in Europe. Each acre fertilized with the solid matter of the sewage would produce ten times as much as it does at present. Here we need the water, and the 30,000 acres of land that now lies barren could be turned into a garden spot. Paris has the finest sewer system, I believe, in the world.

IN common with a majority of Angelenos, we are pleased to welcome our fellow-citizen, I. W. Hellman, back from his European trip. Mr. Hellman has grown up with Los Angeles, has large interests here, and, having command of much capital, can be a great power for good. In an interview with a TIMES representative, he makes some good points, that have been touched upon many times in these columns, on the subject of increasing our productive capacity. Mr. Hellman also expressed an opinion which we have frequently attempted to impress upon our readers. He said: "I have had it forced home on me by my trip that the property-owners of Los Angeles must do more themselves. They must enforce confidence abroad by showing it at home themselves." We are glad to notice that Mr. Hellman has declared his intention of giving his fellow-capitalists a good example in this line. We trust that they will lose no time in following his lead.

IN the sudden death of B. Cohn yesterday, Los Angeles loses an old and valued citizen; a man who had a good head for finance, has held several responsible positions, and who was especially well informed upon matters connected with the city government. He frequently exerted his influence against extravagance in municipal affairs. Mr. Cohn was, at the time of his death, a member of the Sewer Commission.

THE Arizona papers continue to refer to Quijotos "bonanza" mines. That bonanza has been a long time developing.

IGNORE THE GOVERNOR.

The Insane Commissioners Will Go Ahead.

Four of the Insane Asylum Commissioners, Messrs. Joseph Brown, J. K. Fisher, K. P. Grant and James Kerr arrived in this city last evening, and took up their quarters at the Nadeau House. The gentlemen were seen by a TIMES representative regarding the J. W. Waters, Jr., letter to Gov. Waterman. The commissioners deny positively that Waters had any authority from the commission, or any member of the commission, to write such a letter. The commissioners state that no man in the State knows better than Gov. Waterman that they cannot be influenced and that they are working for the best interests of the State.

The commissioners have had no notification of their removal, and they will go ahead this morning and transact their business just as if nothing had occurred. The bill under which the commissioners are acting reads as follows:

Section 1. There shall be established in one of the counties hereinafter named, and upon a site to be selected by commissioners appointed for that purpose, an institution for the care and treatment of the insane, to be designated as the Southern California State Hospital for the Insane.

Sec. 2. The Governor of the State of California is hereby authorized and directed to appoint [five] commissioners, [one from each of the following counties: San Diego, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, Ventura an l Santa Barbara.]

Sec. 3. The commissioners shall, within ten days after their appointment, proceed to select in the county of Los Angeles, San Bernardino [Ventura, Santa Barbara, or], San Diego, a suitable site for said hospital, of not less than 100 acres of land; and in the selection of said site the commissioners shall be governed by advantages for health, convenience of access, and general sanitary surroundings.

Sec. 4. The commissioners shall ascertain the cost of the proposed site, and report the same to the Governor for approval, and when approved shall purchase the same for and on behalf of the State.

B. COHN GONE.

He Dies Suddenly, in the Arms of His Friends.

At 9:15 o'clock last evening, ex-Councilman B. Cohn dropped dead in a room in the Ponet block, No. 15 South Main street.

The circumstances of his death were particularly sad. He had attended, yesterday afternoon, the funeral of Louis Schlossinger, his ward, after which he spent the time until 8 o'clock with a number of friends. He left them at that hour and started to walk to his residence, on Main street, below Second street. On his way he stopped at the Ponet block to talk with Mrs. Schlossinger. A number of persons were in the room with them, and were surprised by a sudden cry from Mr. Cohn, who threw up his hands and fell back in his chair. Those in the room knew him well, and were aware of the fact that he was subject to fainting fits, and the usual remedies were applied, but without effect. He raised up from his chair, called Mrs. Schlossinger by name, and fell dead into her arms. Messengers had been sent for physicians when Mr. Cohn was first taken, and in a few minutes Drs. de Szigethy, Nadeau, Cannon and Ledeaux were in attendance, but were too late to do anything to save him.

Mr. Cohn was 55 years of age, and leaves three children. He was one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of the city, and for several years was a member of the City Council. He was secretary of the Hebrew Benevolent Society, and prominent in the B. B. Society.

The news of his death spread like wildfire, and his residence, on Main street, to which his body had been taken, was the objective point of many of his friends.

A Coroner's jury will hold an inquest today to determine the cause of death, which is believed to be due to apoplexy.

Badly Burned.

Mr. Whitaker, who used to be with J. F. Crank, met with a serious accident the other day. A coal-oil lamp exploded in his hands and the burning oil spread all over him. He was badly burned about the head and shoulders, and at one time the doctors thought they would not be able to pull him through. He was much better yesterday and will be out soon.

PUEBLO (Colo.), Nov. 1.—It is reported that the passenger train on the Fort Worth road which left Denver for Pueblo at 8:30 this morning met with an accident at Easton by which three men were killed. Engineer Hickley and Fireman Flemming and an engineer named Manly, who was riding on the engine with them, was killed. No other damage is reported.

Fined for Contempt.

DENVER (Colo.), Nov. 1.—The Supreme Court today handed down an opinion in the contempt case against the Denver Republican, which affirmed the ruling of the District Court in fining both Manager J. G. Cooper and Editor William Stapleton $300 for contempt. The case grew out of the Republican's publishing certain editorials and cartoons which reflected upon the action of Judge Stallcup who granted a habeas corpus to the Acting Secretary of State, who had been arrested for contempt in refusing to permit the Grand Jury to enter the room where the legislative furniture was stored for the purpose of examining the same.

GEN. HOWARD'S REPORT.

Coast Defenses the Great Need of the Present Time.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The report of Gen. O. O. Howard, commanding the Division of the Atlantic, to the Adjutant-General, for the year ended September 30th, calls attention to the lack of armament of nearly all the seacoast stations. "Our needs in this direction," he says, "have been so often and recently reported on by my predecessors that I deem it useless to more than call attention to the subject again. The time will undoubtedly come when some positive action in the matter of permanent defenses is demanded."

In this connection the subject of high explosives is discussed. He calls attention to the invention of a young Russian, formerly the botanist of the Point Barrow expedition, which is safe and the best explosive the General knows. With such a powerful agent the problem of coast defense is resolved almost to one of range, and the great seaboard cities can be made comparatively safe without excessive expenditure.

Gen. Howard treats the subject of desertion at length, and repeats his former recommendation for an increased reward for the apprehension of deserters. To remove the causes of desertion he recommends first that the term of enlistment be shortened to two or three years, and some system instituted by which men in emergencies may sever their connection with the service without dishonor to themselves or injustice to the Government. Gen. Howard joins Gen. Crook in recommending that the infantry term of service be recognized by giving the regiments three battalions of four companies each. He recommends also that the present rifle for infantry and cavalry be exchanged for a magazine gun.

"THAT'S THE MAN."

A SENSATION IN THE CRONIN TRIAL.

Carlson's Positive Identification of Martin Burke as the Man Who Hired the Cottage—Damaging Testimony.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The first important witness today in the Cronin case was Annie Carlson, daughter-in-law of the owner of the Carlson cottage. She said that on the 20th of March a man giving the name of Frank Williams came to rent the cottage. He said his sister was to keep house for him and that he would move his furniture in. She then pointed out Martin Burke as the man. She said she had never seen Burke since till a few days ago, when she came into court and recognized him instantly.

James Carlson, owner of the cottage, corroborated Annie Carlson's testimony. He told of showing the stranger through the cottage and renting it to him. He was still on the stand when recess was taken.

James Carlson was recalled in the afternoon and told again of the renting of the cottage to a man calling himself Frank Williams and subsequent events.

Then came the event of the afternoon session. Mr. Mills asked the witness how many times he had seen the man calling himself Frank Williams.

Carlson replied three times.

Mr. Mills then said: "I will ask you if you see that man now."

The witness looked in a bewildered way to the back of the court in an endeavor to pick out from the sea of faces before him the man he wanted.

"Look back of the lawyers, Mr. Carlson," said Mills, as the old gentleman hesitated. He had hardly uttered the words when the witness, walking straight up to the defendant, Martin Burke, shook his hat at him and exclaimed: "That's the man."

Despite his utmost efforts to appear unconcerned, it was evident that Burke fully realized the damaging nature of old man Carlson's testimony.

Mill was not slow to clinch his advantage. "Is that the man?" he asked, indicating Martin Burke. "You called Frank Williams?" and the witness unhesitatingly answered: "Yes, sir."

Carlson was cross-examined at great length, but his testimony was unshaken.

John Garrity, a teamster, testified that about two years ago Conrhlin told him he wanted to see "Ma," Sampson. He wanted to get him to "sing" a man. He wanted the man disgraced for life, and if he was killed it wouldn't make much difference. Adjourned.

Gillette's Story Doubted.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—In the alleged confession of Burke told by Prisoner Gillette at Winnipeg yesterday, a man employed by one McGinnis, a fish dealer in this city, was implicated. McGinnis was interviewed today and said he did not know who the man could be, unless it was Joseph Keenen, one of the indicted jury-bribers who McGinnis said worked for him last season. Keenen, when interviewed, said he had not been near McGinnis for two years, and knew nothing of the prisoners on trial. Suspicion was then tranferred to another employé named Cooney, but the police this evening announce that he had no connection with the matter. The Chief of Police has taken up that part of Gillette's story in which he speaks of the murderers getting money in an office on Dearborn street, and also looking up the woman Burke spoke of. It is reported that a young woman answering the description sold out her furniture last summer and left for the old country. State's Attorney Longenecker this afternoon made light of the published accounts of Gillette's story, saying there was nothing in it, and that all Gillette knows he (Longenecker) has locked up in his safe. He intimated that the story did not amount to much.

A Wicked Partner.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Sylvester E. Brown, business partner of Thomas Kavanaugh, one of the men under indictment for trying to bribe the Cronin jury, brought suit in the Circuit Court today for an accounting, dissolution of partnership and appointment of a receiver. He says that when his partner was arrested and indicted, all contracts the firm had on hand were cancelled, and he has found it impossible to make contracts since, owing to the prejudice Kavanaugh's indictment has caused.

The Montana Contest.

HELENA (Mont.), Nov. 1.—No decision was rendered today by Judge de Wolf in the question of the right of appeal of members of the canvassing board from the order to count the votes in the Tunnel precinct. The attorneys today mutually agreed to request the Judge to postpone his decision until Wednesday, that they might look up further authorities. The State Board of Canvassers did not count the Silver Bow returns today. It is understood there is some irregularity in them, though what is not positively known.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 1.—No lives were lost by the Palace kink fire. In the panic a number were slightly injured. The flames spread rapidly. A BLIZZARD.

Great Storm Raging in the East.

Railway Trains Blockaded—Telegraph Wires Down.

A Big Row Among the Cotton-oil Trust Stockholders.

The Locomotive Engineers Reject the Plan of Federation—A Mysterious Man in Colorado—Eastern Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

DENVER (Colo.), Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The snowstorm which has been raging for 48 hours abated today. The storm is the worst that has been experienced for several years. All trains are delayed, and telegraphic communication to all eastern points is destroyed. Three hundred miles east of here over 15 miles of telegraph lines are completely wrecked, while in Colorado the damage to fruit and shade trees is considerable. Reports from the south say the storm has drifted thousands of cattle and horses off their range into the southeast, and that hundreds of the weaker animals have perished in the blizzard.

THE STORM IN NEBRASKA.

OMAHA (Neb.), Nov. 1.—A heavy snow has been falling here since early morning. The storm has played havoc with railway telegraph wires and overland trains generally. A fall of about six inches of snow was reported at the Union Pacific headquarters from several towns in Western Nebraska, while in Wyoming a blizzard is prevailing, and it is feared trains will be blocked. The telegraph wires on the Burlington broke at several points west of Omaha. Trains on the Elkhorn were delayed more or less owing to the heavy fall of snow in the territory traversed by that road. It is reported that at Valentine the thermometer is rapidly falling and a cold wave is prevailing.

A TROUBLED TRUST.

The Cotton-oil Combine People Have a Stormy Meeting.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The annual meeting of the American Cotton-oil Trust was held today. The president's report shows that the profits for the year ended August 31st were $1,655,781. One of the certificate-holders asked that the report be printed for their benefit, but Mr. Flagler said there was great objection to its being made public, as it would put the figures into possession of business rivals, which could not be permitted.

E. H. Bonner, one of the certificate-holders, wanted to know why the trustees had said in the last circular that the profits of the year would be $300,000. Where had the missing $1,000,000 gone to? Before Flagler could explain, another shareholder wanted to know if the statement in the circular that the cash and cash assets of the company were $7,000,000 was not also $1,000,000 too much.

Trustee Thomas then said the circular was issued on reports from various properties, but since then the regular reports had come in and the loss of $1,000,000 by shrinkage of value had been made known. He said he found that men who had been officially conducting the trust's business had been buying a good deal of oil from rival companies, and had been obliged to sell out at a lower price. Another thing contributing to the loss was the poor quality of last year's cotton-seed crop. Thomas then spoke of the plan of merging the trust into a company, and said by the plan proposed there would be a reduction of capital to $21,000,000, thus "pumping out some of the water."

Considerable murmuring was heard, but finally a motion was adopted for the appointment of a committee to consider plans and arrangements for merging the trust into a company, to report at another meeting.

FEDERATION REFUSED.

The Engineers Vote the Proposition Down.

DENVER (Colo.), Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] The locomotive engineers today refused to adopt the articles of federation. The plan presented to the convention is understood to be the same as that presented at Atlanta. Upon the suggestion of Chief Arthur the convention appointed a committee of five, with instructions to prepare a new proposition of federation which shall be presented to each division of the brotherhood for their acceptance or rejection. Every lodge adopting this new plan will be permitted to form a federation with any labor organization named in the article, such federation to stand only until finally acted upon by the next annual meeting at Pittsburgh. As Arthur will have the appointment of this committee, it is believed he has named men who opposed federation and who will do little to bring about its final adoption.

The convention has yet to audit a few claims on the joint charity fund, make some amendments in the insurance rules, and receive the report of the Committee on Constitution and Bylaws. It will then be ready to adjourn.

HATFIELDS AND M'COYS.

Another Fight Reported but Not Credited.

MILTON (W.Va.), Nov. 1.—[By the Associated Press.] Another bloody chapter was added to the story of the Hatfield-McCoy vendetta last evening by a skirmish in which Mrs. James Brown was killed, and James Blumfield was wounded by a detachment the of McCoy partyin ambush. The Hatfields stopped at the house of Mrs. Brown for supper. While there the McCoys in ambush fired through the window. This last affair has stirred up feeling to the highest pitch. It has been determined to call on the Governor for troops.

SOUND SUGGESTIONS.

A SHORT INTERVIEW WITH I. W. HELLMAN, THE BANKER.

Some Impressions of Europe and Their Application to Los Angeles—How Our Hotels Should Be Built—Sewage Should Be Utilized—More Capital Coming—Hint as to Municipal Management.

A TIMES reporter had a talk last night with I. W. Hellman, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of this city, who has just returned from a seven months' trip in England and Europe. He expressed himself as glad to get home, and gave his impressions of the trip freely.

"I left home," he said, "entirely on account of my health, and not until affairs were in such shape as to be absolutely safe as far as human foresight could make them. We went first to England, and while I did no great amount of business, still I naturally felt an interest in Los Angeles and did all I could for it. My interests threw me in contact with quite a number of bankers and capitalists, and you can say that through the conversations I had quite a large amount of capital has come to us. It is not for speculative purposes at all, and will only be used in a perfectly safe way. After I reached England and met these gentlemen there were a great many inquiries of me about Los Angeles.

"From England we went to Germany and I went to the place of my birth, in Bavaria. It was not a cheerful visit. I left there when I was a boy 13 years old, and did not find many who remembered me. It is singular, though, how little the small towns in Europe change. The town was very much as I left it, and I had no difficulty in recognizing buildings and places."

"Did you stay there long?"

"No, only two days; then we went to Austria. Vienna is a beautiful city. I think the most beautiful I saw in Europe. A number of years ago they removed the forts and ditches surrounding the city, and took in a vast extent of suburbs.

"The city sold off building lots, reaping a rich harvest, and erected magnificent granite and marble buildings. Vienna has a million inhabitants, and I had a delightful experience there. We went to Switzerland and down into Northern Italy. In Switzerland we spent five weeks, some of the time at Lucerne and Interlachen. And there is something I want to say about their hotels."

"With reference to a comparison?"

"Yes, and a suggestion. Throughout Europe it is the medium-sized hotels which pay. Now, Lucerne and Interlachen are almost entirely made up of hotels. Their idea is different from ours. They aim to make the hotels a reasonable size and homelike. They don't build them right on the street and like dungeons, but set them back, although as near the center as possible, and have gardens and courts. The hotels may not be more than 200 rooms, but they are designed and run for the comfort of the guests. The idea is not that a guest may stay but a day, but they make it so pleasant that he wants to remain longer and does so."

"How should that apply to Los Angeles?"

"I think that we ought to have a dozen more hotels. Instead of spending $1,000,000 on one, I think two or three small hotels of 200 or 300 rooms should be built, and on the ideas I have suggested. All through Europe this idea is being adopted. Their season in Switzerland is much shorter than ours. Where they have a season of two months we have four. Where the immense hotel makes money for one month or possibly two or three and then is shut up for the remaining nine months, it is not a good investment; but the smaller hotels make money. I have had it forced home on me by my trip that the property-owners of Los Angeles must do more themselves. They must enforce confidence abroad by showing it at home themselves."

"Did you pay any particular attention to the manner in which sewage is handled?"

"Yes, indeed. It is always utilized, wherever possible. It makes a wonderful difference. Sewage is never wasted in Europe. There are simple methods of utilizing it. I think our city will be very foolish if it loses the chance to increase the value of its land and products millions of dollars by allowing the sewage to go to waste. There are thousands of acres of land along the river and elsewhere, now almost worthless, that can be made as rich and productive as any in the world by the sewage."

"What do you think of the condition of the city generally after your absence?"

"I think it has a bright future. I have found no climate anywhere in Europe, and I have been nearly everywhere which I think equals ours. I heard quite a number of people in the East, however, asking about how we are managing things here. It is very necessary to preserve the confidence of capital, for instance, now that we are placing bonds, that there shall no question of doubt arise as to the management of municipal affairs. People in the East are watching us very critically at present."

"On the whole, then, Mr. Hellman, you seem to be cheerful as to the outlook?"

"Most certainly. I do want to say, however, and impress it on our people, that they must produce more. This importing of chickens and butter and so many articles is suicidal. We must keep the money here that we make. I have large interests in Los Angeles, and have grown up with the city. I see in the tendency to import so much that we do not need to import a menace to our prosperity. I have been setting out forest trees on my ranch, and have given orders since I came home to set out 100 acres more. There is so little of our country in cultivation. Our property-owners must ask a fair price for their land, and not an exaggerated one, and we must all be up and doing. I am going to take a more active interest in all these things than I have ever done."

The Illinois Association.

This evening the Illinois Association will treat the public to another grand social and entertainment, at Masonic Hall, No. 29 South Spring street. The formal part of the exercises will include piano solos by Miss Nellie May; elocution by Prof. C. C. Parker, Misses Rosa Harben and Grace Hersee; an original essay on "The Press," by Ralph E. Hoyt; banjo music and songs, by Mr. Mansalo; original comic songs, by Prof. Hersee; vocal selections, by Dr. A. E. Gresham; singing and guitar playing, by Mr. and Miss Grosser.

SEWER COMMISSION.

A Slimly-attended Meeting Yesterday—Adjourned Until Tuesday.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the hour set for the meeting of the Citizens' Sewer Commission, but three of the members had put in an appearance. Forty-five minutes passed and only nine of the members had assembled. They were as follows: C. N. Wells, Dr. H. Sinsabaugh, E. M. Hamilton, J. E. Jackson, L. N. Breed, George Hansen, G. W. Knox, William Ferguson and A. C. Shafer. One more member was required to complete a quorum, and while waiting for an arrival the members present passed the time discusing the report of the sub-committee on the utilization and disposition of sewage, copies of which were at hand. Ex-Mayor W. H. Workman sauntered in about 2:15 o'clock, and Chairman Wells called the meeting to order. By this time Dr. Sinsabaugh had left the room, and still there was no quorum. Chairman Wells stated that the report of the Sub-committee on Disposition and Utilization of Sewage was ready, but he did not consider it advisable to bring it up when none of the members of that committee were in attendance. Councilman Shafer left the room and Councilman Summerland, a member of the committee on utilization, entered a moment later.

Ex-Mayor Workman expressed himself as being in favor of having the report read, even though the members of the sub-committee were absent. He thought it time that the commission had done something, and the Committee on Outfall Sewer to the Sea was waiting to hear the report from the Committee on Utilization before it completed its report.

Mr. Knox took the floor and stated that he had noticed in the public press that the City Council, at its last meeting, passed a resolution requesting the Sewer Commission to report to the Council on Monday next. He said that no official notification of such action on the part of the Council had reached the commission, but Councilman Shafer informed him that the Council expected the commission to make a final report on Monday. The member thought it hardly right for the commission to take hasty action in the matter, and he suggested that the same line of work that the commission has been pursuing be continued, and further time in which to make the investigation be asked from the Council. He said that he understood from one of the Councilmen that if a report from the commission was not forthcoming on Monday the Council would take the matter into its own hands. In spite of this Mr. Knox said he was not disposed to reach a conclusion that he would afterward regret, and thought the members of the commission entertained the same feeling.

Speaking of the report of the Sub-committee on the Disposition and Utilization of Sewage, Mr. Knox said that it was a lengthy document and could not be digested by the commission at one sitting, another point which he said would make a final report to the Council on Monday an impossibility. But as the Council desired some information as to the work being done, he made a motion that the secretary be instructed to notify the Council that the commission appointed by it to investigate the matter of sewage has made progress with the work, which is as yet incomplete, and that it hopes to make a final report in two weeks.

This brought Councilman Summerland to his feet with the remark that the sub-committee was ready to make its report to the commission and that although the chairman, Mr. Culver, was absent, he could see no objection to its being read, as it was signed by all three members of the committee.

Mr. Knox asked for further time for the reading of the report, as he did not think it right to go through with it without the full commission present. It was also stated that Mr. Knox and Dr. Sinsabaugh had been added to the committee and that neither of them knew the contents of the report.

Councilman Summerland said he did not know that the gentlemen named were on the committee.

Chairman Wells here read a communication from the City Clerk calling attention to the fact that the Council had requested the commission to report.

The chairman stated that although a quorum was not present he theught there would be no objection to proceeding with business.

The motion made by Mr. Knox was called for and carried.

Mr. Knox then moved that the Committee on the Utilization and Disposition of Sewage be allowed until the next session of the commission to make its report, so as to allow Dr. Sinsabaugh and himself to meet with it and consider the report.

Ex-Mayor Workman said that he thought it would be well to have the report read so that the members might consider its contents, especially as the outfall committee was awaiting it.

Mr. Hamilton thought it would be best to proceed with the reading of the report.

Mr. Jackson opposed it for the reason that neither Dr. Sinsabaugh nor Mr. Knox had met with the committee.

Mr. Judson, a member of the sub-committee, said he would withdraw his name from the report, as he did not know at the time he approved of and signed the same that any new members had been added to the committee.

Councilman Summerland said his name was attached to the report, and he wished to have it read.

Mr. Breed said Dr. Sinsabaugh had especially requested him to state that he would like to have the reading postponed until the next session.

Chairman Wells said he thought it hardly proper to have the report read when so many members of the commission were absent.

The motion made by Mr. Knox to have the reading of the report go over until the next session was put and carried.

Mr. Hansen moved that the commission adjourn until Tuesday next at 1 o'clock p.m. Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE LATE JOHN C. BYRAM.

Memorial Notice by the Loyal Legion.

The Commandery of the State of California, Military Order of the Loyal Legion, has published, through Col. W. R. Smedburg, Recorder, the following memorial notice of John C. Byram, late Second Lieutenant Thirty-sixth Indiana Volunteer Infantry, who died at Los Angeles, August 21, 1889:

John Christopher Byram was born at Liberty, Union County, Ind., October 27, 1835. He enlisted as private in Company G, Thirty-sixth Regiment Indiana Volunteer Infantry, September 17, 1861, and was mustered into service as second sergeant of the company; he was promoted second lieutenant in August, 1862, and was honorably discharged from the service January 24, 1864, at Whiteside, Tenn., on account of disability resulting from wounds received at the battle of Murfreesboro or Stone's River, January 1, 1863.

He served with his regiment in the Tenth Brigade (Ammen's), Fourth Division (Nelson's), Army of the Cumberland, under Gen. Buell; the Thirty-sixth Indiana was the first regiment of this army that landed at Pittsburgh Landing on the evening of Sunday, April 6, 1862, and moving forward at once with the Sixth Ohio, they took position on the left of Grant's army, and were engaged during the evening and the following day. Lieut. Byram took part in the movement on Corinth, and in the campaign following its evacuation; and continued on duty until the battle of Murfreesboro, December 31, 1862, to January 2, 1863, when he received a severe wound. He was able to return to his regiment in season to participate in the battle of Chickamauga, siege of Chattanooga and battle of Missionary Ridge, but was at last compelled to tender his resignation on account of his honorable wounds. As a citizen since the war he has lived an upright life, and he has possessed the confidence and affection of the community in which he resided.

He was elected a Companion of the First Class of the Commandery (No. 767), December 29, 1888. Insignia No. 6675.

The commandery mourns the death of another valued companion, and to his bereaved family tenders the heartfelt sympathy of companions in arms.

Turkey Thieves.

About a week ago half a dozen turkeys were stolen from a ranch on Temple street, near the city line. The owner of the fowls in passing the American Fishing Company's place on Main street saw his turkeys in a pen. Inquiries were made as to where they were obtained, which resulted in the swearing out of a warrant for the arrest of the party who sold them to the Fishing Company. Detective Wallin armed with the warrant proceeded to the place, the proprietor of which pointed out the man who brought the birds to him. Wallin recognized the man as a petty larceny thief, and he was taken to the station, where he said his name was Charles Campbell. His photograph graces a page in the rogues' gallery, and is labeled A. T. Wright. The man was taken before Judge Stanton and entered a plea of guilty. He will be sentenced today.

Widening Los Angeles Street.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Mr. Edward Leake, the writer of an article as a protestant to the widening of Los Angeles street, appeared in THE TIMES of today's date. One would suppose from the article that Mr. Leake was terribly injured, when in truth that same opposition element began to howl when it never owned one foot of assessable property on that street; but as I learn has since bought a lot adjoining his former one, and so has managed at last to be brought within the pale of said street tax. "The less a bottle has in it, the more row it makes in pouring it out."

THE TWEEDY MURDER.

THE CASE PROMISES TO RUN TWO WEEKS.

Some Interesting Evidence Brought Out Yesterday—Persons Who Overheard the Quarrel that Led to the Shooting—Things Look Dark for the Murderer.

The defense began its case yesterday in the trial of Wayne Wheeling, charged with the murder of William Tweedy. Yesterday was the fifth day of the trial, and there is every prospect that it will last two weeks yet, because the defense has about 60 witnesses to examine, and then there will be testimony in rebuttal by the prosecution. The outline of the theory of the defense was given by W. H. Shinn, Esq., of counsel, and if they prove all that is claimed, they will make a strong defense.

Mr. Shinn said that he expected to prove that William Tweedy, the deceased, had often threatened to take Wayne Wheeling's life; had often cursed him, until Wheeling was afraid of his life. He claimed that Wheeling had been warned that his life was in danger; that Tweedy always went armed, and when in liquor was a revengeful and dangerous man.

Counsel referred to Zack Gentry, Tweedy's brother-in-law, who witnessed the shooting. He spoke of him in caustic terms as a man whom they would prove by numerous witnesses to be unworthy of belief; also that he urged Tweedy on to annoy and threaten Wheeling, and is responsible, if anybody is, for Tweedy's death. He explained that the Gentrys and Tweedys occupied land next to Hereford and Wheeling, which was used for grazing purposes. The land of the defendants was cultivated by them. Tweedy's stock was in the habit of breaking down fences and destroying the crops, and Tweedy or his men would do it themselves and allow their stock to roam over the country. Although Wheeling, Gentry, Tweedy and Hereford were related by marriage there was no friendly feeling between the defendants and the other two. The Hereford homestead was so located that it was in the way of Tweedy's stock going from one of his ranges in the mountains at the mouth of King's Cañon to the other. This was trouble to Tweedy, and he wanted Hereford out of his way.

The first quarrel between the two sides was in October, 1887, when it is claimed Tweedy and Gentry caused stock to be stolen and branded. It is also claimed that Tweedy made Wheeling and Hereford a proposition to go into stock stealing with him, which they refused. That this irritated him, and he swore to get rid of Wheeling and Hereford.

Counsel claimed that in all the quarrels which arose Tweedy was the aggressor. That he was a powerful man physically and a dangerous man, and Wheeling and Hereford went armed because they were in danger of their lives. On one occasion, on a trumped-up charge, Tweedy had Hereford and Wheeling arrested on a charge of stealing stock. The jury disagreed on two trials, and the defendants were discharged. On another occasion two of Tweedy's horses were caught in Hereford's place and were taken up. At night they were rescued from the corral. Tweedy and Gentry were arrested by Wheeling, and were tried at Fairmount, where they were acquitted. The counsel said that the killing of Tweedy's bull on Hereford's place was the act which no doubt led to the tragedy.

When Mr. Shinn had finished his opening address, Louis George was recalled and questioned by the defense relative to his description of the shooting and of the remarks he made to others about it. This was done for the purpose of fixing the statements to lay the foundation for future impeachments. Mr. George related the circumstances as he did while previously on the stand.

At the beginning of the afternoon session a number of depositions were read, from persons in the East, principally in Iowa, testifying to the good reputation of Wheeling while he lived in that country. Their reading occupied some time. They all gave Wheeling's reputation as being a young man, quiet, industrious and good natured.

Mrs. Mary Shiebler was then put on the stand. She keeps the grocery store and saloon near George's blacksmith shop at Maynard, and testified that on the day of the shooting Wheeling and Hereford hitched their team back of the barn near the store; that they brought quite a lot of venison. She said that when the shots were fired Hereford was in her store, and did not go out until the second shot was fired; that he then went toward the well and not the door of the shop, and Wheeling came there and met him. She also testified that before the shooting Tweedy and George drank a bottle of beer in her place.

Charles B. Hall Justice of the Peace, testified that he succeeded Justice Dinsmore, before whom one of the trials referred to was held, and produced the docket. The pages of evidence about the trial had been cut or torn out of the book. The Justice testified that the book was just as it was turned over to him by his predecessor.

John M. Kepner, Justice of the Peace at Fairmount, produced his docket, showing record of the trial in which Tweedy and Gentry were discharged from the charge brought against them for horse-stealing.

The last witness of the day was O. A. Eby, who was introduced to impeach Louis George, and he was severely handled on cross-examination by Mr. Gage. He testified that after the shooting George told him that when Wheeling came into the shop Tweedy rolled over, and got up, cursing Wheeling, saying: "G—— d—— you, Wayne, why did you kill my bull?" On cross-examination, when asked by Mr. Gage to repeat what George said, the witness inadvertently left out the oath, making it just as George originally stated it. His attention being called to the omission he attempted to correct it, but got in a different oath under the caustic fire of questions by Mr. Gage.

Mr. Gage also asked him if he had talked with any one about the case, and who had asked him to be a witness. The witness stumbled and was so reluctant to answer that counsel for defense finally told him to answer, when he said that J. L. Green had told him to be a witness, and sent him a letter. The letter, he said, did not tell him how to testify, but to call at the office of Shinn, Edgerton & Ling.

This closed the case for the day and an adjournment was taken until this morning at 10 o'clock.

Fancy odors from Spice Islands.
Wafted by the tropic breeze;
SOZODONT in healthful fragrance
Cannot be surpassed by these.
Teeth it whitens, purifies;
You will use it if you're wise.

BUSINESS.

Money, Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Money on call tight at 6@12 per cent.; last loan, 6 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 5½@7½.

Sterling exchange, quiet but heavy; 60-day bills, 4.81; demand, 4.85.

American cotton oil, 33¼.

Government bonds, dull but steady.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—In the stock market today trusts were again the all-absorbing feature, and cotton oil in particular attracted an interest which threw other stocks, and especially railroad shares, into the shade. Out of a total of 372,466 shares of stock traded in, the unlisted department furnished 205,206. The annual meeting of shareholders of cotton oil was held today, and developed the truth of the story that earnings have fallen about $1,000,000 short of estimates given out, and have reached only $1,000,000. Railroad stocks, as long as they were left to their natural bent, advanced slowly, though the gains were generally confined to fractions. The close was fairly active and heavy to weak, at about the lowest prices of the day. Final changes show a large majority of losses, and while Chicago and East Illinois preferred is up 1 per cent., cotton oil is down 3¼, Chicago Gas and Missouri Pacific 2⅝ each, lead trust 1⅜, and Burlington and Quincy 1 per cent.

The notice of the public is called to the fact that this bank only loans money on approved real-estate security; that it does not loan money to its stockholders, officers or clerks; that among its stockholders are some of the oldest and most responsible citizens of the community; that, under the State laws the private estates of its stockholders are pro rata liable for the total indebtedness of the bank.

These facts, with care exercised in making loans, insure a safe depository for savings accounts. School teachers, clerks, mechanics, employees in factories and shops, laborers, etc., will find it convenient to make deposits in small amounts.

TO VOTE or not to vote? that is the question.

THE Library is at last being talked about all over the city.

PASADENA could take care of the Insane Commissioners, provided they are not violent.

THE Chautauquan idea, which finds a place in this city, is one of the most powerful educational movements of the century. Its results for higher education among the masses are incalculable.

AN attractive feature of depots in the East is the garden and flower plots around them. We are to have a depot park, evidently. The fence is already up; now put in the fountain, palms and flowers.

IF a good location for the Insane Asylum is really what the Insane Commissioners are after, it can be found in this vicinity. The San Rafael ranch, Garvanza, Eagle Rock Valley, the Pasadena highlands, Ramona, and hundreds of other places could be selected; cheap lands, cool, breezy, winter and summer. The possible effect of the San Bernardino midsummer heat upon five hundred maniacs is frightful to contemplate.

THE rapid transit line, that can come from the heart of Los Angeles to the center of Pasadena once every hour and return, and also send five or six trains a day out over the Altadena road to accommodate the highland people, will in the end show the greatest sagacity on the part of its promoters. Our highlands must be settled up. The locality is choice in every way, and the only objection at present is that it is out of the way. If Mr. McNally, or Mr. Woodbury, or the other gentlemen who have fine homes and ranches at Altadena, could step into the train and be landed in the center of Los Angeles in rapid-transit time they would feel that their part of the city would soon be built up, and with such a service—rapid transit to the mountains and to the foot of the toll road—the highlands of Pasadena would soon be dotted with beautiful homes and villas.

IN the interview which we give in another column, with Gov. Sheldon, he strikes the keynote of the future of Pasadena, and voices the stand which THE TIMES has always taken, which is that our future depends upon our productive ability. The chief factor in the development of this country is going to be the agriculturist, the small farmer who will produce the thousand and one things that are now shipped here from Iowa, Kansas, Indiana, France and Spain. At the California Club, at the restaurants, guests drink imported white wines and clarets, often in preference to our own; yet an experienced wine manufacturer from France told the writer that he was positive that he could, with a fair test, produce as fine wines here as in France. Imported olive oil undersells native oil in the Pasadena stores, and comparatively few people use the home material because it is too expensive.

THE small farmer can produce butter, eggs, cheese in unlimited quantities here; but we have the remarkable spectacle of a country proving to the outside world that its soil is more productive than any other in the United States, yet living to a great extent upon the productions of the very States over which superiority is claimed. Chickens, turkeys, beef, and many articles, are brought here from the Middle States in vast quantities; not because we cannot produce them, not because our climate is too hot or too cold, but because we either do not care to or will not make the attempt to induce those to come here who have the tastes and inclinations to become tillers of the soil. The bare possibilities of this country, if suggested to the farmers of New England, the well-to-do agriculturists of Great Britain, Germany, the vineyardists of Spain and France, where wages are barely sufficient to sustain life, would cause them to look this way, and would undoubtedly result in the filling up of the great areas of productive land that are now bearing a crop of painted stakes.

TO VOTE BONDS.

THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE RECOMMENDS $7000 WORTH.

The Library Meeting Yesterday Afternoon—Opinions of Stockholders and Citizens—McLean and Young's Suggestions—What Will Be Done.

The Committee of the Whole of the City Council met in the chamber at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon to further consider the question of the acquirement of the new Public Library by the city.

There were present Councilmen Mills, Throop, McLean and Young. The representative citizens present were Dr. Channing, Prof. C. F. Holder, Col. Jabez Banbury, W. E. Arthur, L. C. Winston, Esq., P. G. Wooster and Col. W. A. Ray.

Councilman Throop said there was a desire on the part of many people to have the city acquire the library.

City Attorney Polley said that the deed of trust given to Col. Ray and others was not a valid one.

Councilman Young said the agreement was that the Library Association was to pay the interest on the $6000 note.

Col. Banbury, one of the signers, said he was approached by Mr. Rust, one of the trustees of the association, who said the trustees were liable to lose the building on account of mechanics' liens. Then he said we could get the money if our names were loaned on a note. This is the first day I ever heard of it as a purchase. A short time ago I was called on to pay $10 interest. We lent our names to save the library; that was my understanding at the time and has been ever since.

Col. Ray, in confirmation, said that was emphatically the programme carried out, when he talked with Mr. Rust. The lease of three months of the old building was no provision for the payment of the interest.

Dr. Channing said: "There was a note prepared and another paper in explanation of what the transaction was to be. To all persons I approached, I stated explicitly, as a means to raise the $6000, was to sell the other building. We owe $500 for rent, which is provided for in the statement. I dislike any antagonism of this sort, but I speak not to concur exactly with what has been said."

In answer to a question put to him by Councilman Young, the speaker said he had only approached a few people to sign the note.

At this point the deputy clerk was called on to take the minutes of the meeting.

J. B. Corsen, J. A. Buchanan and George F. Foster also came in at this time.

Col. Ray said the money was paid into the San Gabriel Valley Bank to the credit of the Library Association.

L. C. Winston said he was not opposed to any interests the signers of the note had in the premises. These gentlemen came forward at the trying moment to redeem the property. We hoped that the $300 advanced by each of the signers could be paid back in full, or nearly all, after the old building had been sold. The deed is a fair one. The Library Association desires to close out effectively, hide and horn, and have the city secure a perfect title. Under the statutes a city of our class can levy, I understand, 10 cents on the $100 for the maintenance of a public library."

Col. Banbury reiterated his statement that not a word had been said to him about the purchase of a building or lease of it when he signed the note.

Dr. Channing said at a meeting it was decided that the sale be made to 20 gentlemen, and that Col. Ray be appointed trustee.

J. B. Corsen said he could not understand the position of Dr. Channing and L. C. Winston. He reasoned with the board about the making of the note and the unfair position taken by the Library Association.

In answer to Mr. Corsen's position on the question, Mr. Winston said that the association gained nothing in the transfer. We are willing to stand on our proposition.

James Cambell, Sr., said the matter of signatures to the notes was presented to him just the same as it had been to Mr. Corsen and others.

J. B. Corsen entered a protest on having a publication of the proceedings of the sessions, as it would prejudice the public in voting on the bonds.

Col. Ray again said they were not to pay the interest on the note, but if matters became involved we understood we might have to pay the interest.

Dr. Channing said his feeling was of the kindest to the 20 gentlemen who signed the note. In answer to a question put to him by Mr. Corsen, he said that the new Public Library would have been lost if the 20 citizens had not stepped in.

Councilman Throop then outlined the position of the Council in the question, and gave a brief synopsis of what he understood had been made. He said that the city could not afford to lose the property, as it would be a disgrace to us for all time. "If the city can get it in an honorable and legal manner, then I am strongly in favor of the issuance of the bonds."

Trustee Young called for the question, but gave way to City Attorney Polley, who again gave the law which he would quote in the ordinance.

City Attorney Polley said that the city could issue bonds for the purchase of a public property, but could not pay private debts or the amount of note unless a resolution of intention to that effect had been drawn. Before a resolution can be drawn an understanding must be had with Charles Legge, who holds the mortgage on the new building.

Trustee Young said that as he understood it there were two ways to get the library: one by the issuance of bonds, and the other way as under the statutes, which provide for the maintenance of a public library.

W. E. Arthur said that he had had quite a lengthy conversation with Mr. Legge, who said he wanted to see the building completed, and that in all his recent travels he had seen nothing to compare with the new structure, in his estimation. The speaker gave every assurance that Mr. Legge was soul, body and heart interested in the carrying out the completion of the project.

Trustee Young suggested that during the time before the levy could be made for another year that money be taken from the general fund to pay a part of the debt, and that others having claims could be induced to hold over for a longer time.

Chairman McLean said he had taken considerable pains to look into the scheme. It seems he said that a plan could be hit upon this evening (Friday) to start the ball rolling at the meeting of the Council today. Holding a copy of THE TIMES in his hand, he quoted extracts from the article written over the signature of Dr. Channing. According to the best information I can get, the 20 gentlemen have purchased the old Library building. It is the duty of the Council to get as good a bargain as it can. The 20 gentlemen ought not to suffer in this matter, for they have been public benefactors. The people of Pasadena are a just and fair people. The first thing to be looked at is the legal course to take. This course would be effectual. If we should propose to vote for the issuance of bonds for the purchase of both buildings, there are many who would vote against the issuance. There is another question to be considered, and that is the purchase of the old Library building for other uses, in particular a city hall. It has been also stated that the Good Templars and the A.O.U.W. have an equity of $1000 in the old building. This is my scheme: The 20 gentlemen could bring a suit against the association in a friendly way for the debt of about $500.

Mr. McLean offered an amendment that the amount of bonds to be raised be fixed at $7000. The speaker was in favor of voting more, but did not think the people would vote it. Donations and contributions would flow in rapidly after the building had once been opened. Mr. McLean occupied the attention of his auditors for over 20 minutes, at times growing eloquent, and speaking strongly in favor of the city purchasing the library.

McLean recommended that the Council call a special election to vote on the question of $7000 for the purchase and maintenance of the Public Library.

Mr. Throop objected to the amendment and spoke in favor of the $15,000 proposition.

The vote carried for the $7000 proposition, Mills and McLean voting in its favor.

McLean further moved that a committee of one be appointed to call on Mr. Legge to obtain a statement from the gentleman as to what he would do. Also to wait on Dr. Channing and Col. W. A. Ray. The motion carried and Mr. Young appointed Mr. McLean. The City Attorney was associated with Mr. McLean.

The committee then rose to report progress.

THE FRIENDS DIFFER.

A Threatened Division—A Church and a Man.

The Friends' meeting in Pasadena is one of the largest west of the Rocky Mountains, and has always been in a thriving condition. It was never like the Philadelphia ideal, being similar to all western meetings, and more like a Methodist meeting; not in doctrinal points, but in having a pulpit and singing. Jeremiah Grinnell was the first leader, and through his earnest work the present building was erected. It had, however, a belfry, a steeple, was painted in colors gay but not gaudy. It had no high seats, after the old fashion, and last, but not least, a choir, and Jeremiah Grinnell was called the pastor.

These points prevented the extreme orthodox Friends from joining with them; not that the Friends here were doing anything wrong; they were simply too progressive; so the plain Friends held a meeting somewhere else. The church, as it was called, grew and prospered, called a minister, a young man, and after he left William Nicholson, a fine speaker, came, and all went well. Some time ago, at a monthly or quarterly meeting, a stranger appeared, and without especial invitation took his stand on the rostrum, opened his mouth and preached. He was a loud speaker, and what he said and the manner in which he said it was distasteful to some, while others were pleased. The Friend came again and again, and it is said that as a result from ten to fifteen baptisms have taken place. This may not strike the reader as a very terrible outcome, but to the plain Friend it is akin to rank heresy, and those who have taken the fatal step are excommunicated in a Friendly way. In other words, the baptized ones, while they are not deposed from membership, are not official members. They cannot hold office in the meeting, so there is a split, a very gentle one, perhaps, but one that has caused no end of talk, and we shall now have not only the Hixites, but the Baptist Friends.

All Soul's Day.

All Souls' day will be observed in the Universalist Church on Sunday in a special manner. The sermon by the pastor will be appropriate to the occasion. The floral decorations will be under the direction of a chosen committee, and the singing will be furnished by the Harmonia Quartette under the leadership of Prof. O. W. Kyle.

Residence Burned.

The residence of Edward Reinert, on Mission street, near Orange Grove avenue, South Pasadena, was burned late last night. The loss is estimated at $2500.

STATE AND COAST.

The South San Diego schoolhouse is nearing completion.

Frank Dysart of Solomonville, Ariz., cut the sixth crop of alfalfa from his farm last week.

Yakima is soon to have another schoolhouse, to be built this fall and winter, of brick.

Montana's output of gold, silver and copper, in 1888, amounted to $40,000,000. Butte is now the largest mining camp in the world.

The pioneers of Mendocino county have organized a society at Ukiah. Any person who lived there before 1860 is entitled to membership.

The Gallup News-Register says imported chickens from Kansas have brought chicken cholera of the worst form to the coast from that place.

At a meeting of the Home and Street Improvement Society in National City, Tuesday evening, it was decided to agitate the subject of raising bonds to improve and beautify that city.

THE OUTLOOK.

IDEAS FOR THE TIME AND THE SITUATION.

Gov. Sheldon Urges Agricultural Development—A Talk with a Railroad Expert and Political Economist.

The long experience of Gov. Sheldon in public affairs render anything he has to say of especial interest, and the following interview will be read by all Pasadenians with pleasure. Referring to the schemes for introducing rapid transit into Pasadena Gov. Sheldon said:

"There is much to say in favor of a rapid transit road from Los Angeles to Pasadena. It is supposed that it will shorten time, cheapen fares and make more frequent trips than are made by the existing railroad, which will probably result. This will be advantageous to all who have business in Los Angeles. I do not think the local merchants will suffer from it very materially. As compared with that of a city of 75,000 or 100,000 people the trade of a city of 8000 or 10,000 must necessarily be very much circumscribed, and merchants of the latter cannot be expected to carry as large and well-assorted stocks. They ought to sell as cheaply, for expenses should be less. Those who wish to have the benefit of the larger and better-assorted stocks will go to Los Angeles to trade under almost any conditions. Lower fares and quicker time will undoubtedly increase this tendency to some extent.

"Making prominent transportation and other non-productive schemes may divert capital and labor from what would result more advantageously. Besides, because it costs less, it may cause people to expend more money and time than they otherwise would. The reduction of rates for excursions is based upon the theory that people will patronize more generally than they otherwise would. Few people recognize the principle of the maxim, "Never buy merely because the article is cheap." It may be expected that the people of Pasadena will go oftener to Los Angeles because it costs less, and they will certainly in the end spend more time, and probably more money."

"What of the possibilities of local manufacturing, Governor?"

"In importance, I regard everything subordinate to the development of production. I think, for the present at least, it is impracticable for the people of Pasadena to engage in manufacturing. It would seem to be so, since there are no fruit-preserving establishments. I do not think any number of rapid transit roads or other non-productive improvements will do much toward enhancing the value of real-estate. The days of general speculation and mere pleasure seeking have passed away, and they will not soon return, and probably never. It is better that they should not. Therefore, it seems to me that the wise thing to do is for the people of Pasadena to make their lands yield all they can."

"What do you think of the weed campaign?"

"The move of the Horticultural Society to get rid of the weeds is gratifying to any friend of Pasadena. Let the work extend, if possible, to the amelioration of neglected and dilapidated orchards and vineyards. As a whole, Pasadena is greatly injured by such thriftless appearances. If everything was in a high state of cultivation there would be an immense increase of values. Lands have not fallen off in prices where production exceeds or equals consumption. It is probable that Pasadena does not produce more than 10 per cent. of what it consumes. The products might be raised to 75 per cent., and this, together with what is gained in business elsewhere and received by those who have incomes from other sources, would prevent the depletion that is constantly going on. Tourists and sojourners have considerable money which would be a source of profit if what they consume was not purchased from countries east of the Rocky Mountains."

"But do you not think, Governor, that our people are making progress in cultivation?"

"Yes; that there is improvement in the way of cultivation is certain; but there is an opening for a very large increase. Pasadena and vicinity need most the fullest development of cultivation of the soil. It is a place of great attractions in scenery and climate, and the people are intelligent, cultured, refined, high-minded and orderly. Not only Pasadena, but the country should realize that conditions are changed, and that we have entered upon a period of industry and economy, and when men must be satisfied with more moderate gains."

THE 2d OF NOVEMBER IN HISTORY.

November 2is ALL SOULS' DAY. The festival is said to have been first introduced in the ninth century by Odilon, abbot of Cluny, but was not generally established until the end of the tenth century. Its observance was esteemed of such importance that in the event of its falling on a Sunday, it was ordered not to be postponed until Monday, as in the case of other celebrations, but to take place on the previous Saturday, that the souls of the departed might suffer no detriment from the want of the prayers of the church. In those times it was customary on this day for persons dressed in black to traverse the streets ringing a dismal-toned bell at every corner, and calling on the inhabitants to remember the souls suffering penance in purgatory. At Naples, the charnel-houses were thrown open, lighted up with torches and decked with flowers, while crowds thronged through the vaults to look at the bodies of their friends and relatives, which were dressed up in robes and arranged in niches along the walls. At Salerno, on the eve of All Souls' day, it was customary to prepare a banquet in every house for the benefit of souls in purgatory, which were supposed to visit the earth temporarily and make merry over the feast. Everybody forsook his habitation and spent the night in a church, returning in the morning to find the feast entirely consumed. It was deemed highly inauspicious if a morsel of the food remained uneaten, and the thieves, who made a harvest of this custom, took good care to avert any evil omen from the inmates of the house by carrying off what they themselves could not consume.

Preparatory to Gen. Wilkinson's expedition down the St. Lawrence, in November, 1813, the troops collected at Grenadier's Island suffered great hardship from incessant storms, during which there was a snowfall of 10 inches. At length Gen. Jacob Brown reached FRENCH CREEK, at the site of Clayton, N.Y., where he was discovered by the scouts of the enemy, who bore down upon him by the 1st of November with two schooners, two brigs and eight gunboats, filled with infantry. Browne placed a battery of three 18-pounders on a wooded bluff at the mouth of the creek. The British made a furious attack upon this position, but were repulsed with severe loss. The conflict was resumed on November 2d with a similar result. The British lost many men, while the Americans lost only two killed and four wounded. Meanwhile Wilkinson arrived with the remainder of the army, and on November 5th the whole force proceeded down the St. Lawrence in 300 batteaux and other boats.

By the revocation of the Edict of Nantes by Louis XIV. in 1685, a considerable number of French Protestants were compelled to take refuge in England. The grandson of one of these emigrants, SIR SAMUEL ROMILLY, was one of the most distinguished lights of the English bar. He was born March 1, 1757, and was called to the bar in 1783. For a time he struggled with poverty, but when clients did come success poured upon him like a flood, and his income quickly rose to $50,000 a year. Romilly's chief claim to remembrance lies in his humane efforts to soften the murderous severity of the English criminal law. Nearly three hundred crimes, varying from the most frightful atrocity to keeping company with gypsies, were indiscriminately punished with death. Romilly proceeded cautiously, beginning in 1808, with a bill to repeal the Statute of Elizabeth, which made it a capital offense to steal privately from the person of another. This he succeeded in getting passed. In 1810 he introduced three bills to repeal statutes which punished with death the crimes of stealing privately in a shop goods to the value of 5 shillings, and of stealing to the amount of 40 shillings in dwelling houses, or in vessels in navigable rivers. All three were lost. He did not despair, however, but kept on, session after session. Romilly did not live to reap success, but he cleared the way for success after him. The death of Romilly's wife on October 9, 1818, proved such a shock that he fell into a delirium, and, in a moment when unwatched, he sprang from his bed, cut his throat and expired in a few minutes on the 2d of November, 1818.

The celebrated Austrian commander, FIELD MARSHAL RADETSKY, was born in Bohemia, November 2, 1766. Entering the Austrian army, he served with distinction against the Turks and French, and for

PEOPLE'S STORE.

BUY PROPER CLOTHING AT PROPER PRICES,

And the Proper Caper Can be Seen in Our Show Windows, with the Price Attached in Plain Figures.

PEOPLE'S STORE,
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2, 1889.

To more especially bring to your notice the theme on which we spoke yesterday, viz., the proper clothing, at proper prices, we have displayed our best values consistent with best materials in our show windows, with prices attached thereto, for the inspection of every one.

As we said that clothing, on account of it being purchased but seldom and at long intervals apart, the general public are perhaps less versed in its values than any known article of ordinary wear. It is therefore with some color of truth that unprincipled dealers are in the habit of taking advantage of the easy-going and unwary customer, and many times much more than the right price is charged.

It is our mission, being that our methods are right, our prices are just, our treatment honorable, to thoroughly spread the information where clothing can be purchased at proper prices and honest rates.

You never get fooled—you never get deceived, when you trade at the People's Store. We aim for your confidence, which we obtain through honest, upright dealing, representing our wares truthfully, and selling our merchandise at the smallest percentage for handling.

In connection we will add that we have a tailoring establishment attached, where garments are altered to fit, and every suit sold leaves our store fitting perfectly and as nice and neat as from a custom tailor.

CATARRH

Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CONSUMPTION,

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold. Indeed he declares he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another; and he is always exceedingly careful. It is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and the throat.

At times many of the symptoms of catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appear, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease it is somewhat changed in its character, and has extended to the throat. A sense of dryness is soon noticed, reading, speaking or singing become at times accompanied by a sensation of dryness is sometimes felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a desire to clear the throat, and fatigue the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this point the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts he will "by and by" recover. But this delusion is the sad and error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

The great danger, however, because the most common, is that it will extend downward and affect the lungs, in most cases of pulmonary disease catarrh is present to some degree, and in many instances it causes a large share of the patient's discomfort.

Besides these grave consequences, all of which are liable to spring from scrofulous catarrh of course, there are others which, if less dangerous, are sufficiently unpleasant. It occasions great unhappiness to thousands of both sexes by isolating them and preventing their settlement in life. An offensive running from the nose, with foul breath, is about as great a calamity as can befall young people. Every disease of this kind can be cured by our new system of practice.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless, unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the Compound Oxygen and other inhalations assist in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing can do with the same success. The very best reference from those already cured.
